news interview with some of the stars, a critic film analysis, newsreel footage of the movie's premiere, trailers and more.

And there's more. Warner Archive are releasing make-to-order Blu-rays of the Peter Ustinov and Terrence Stamp feature, Billy Budd (1962). On DVD, you can pick up made-to-order copies of the out of print titles, Almost Heroes (1998), Hooper (1978),

Reckless Kelly (1993), Stroker Ace (1983) and Sharky's Machine (1981). The news should please fans of Chris Farley, Burt Reynolds

Back on the Blu-ray front, Mondo Macabro have the release of the Spanish horror picture, Who Can Kill a Child? (1976). Finally, Kit Parker Films are giving The French Way (1945) a high definition upgrade and Milestone have the European arthouse titles Maborosi (1995) and Rocco and His Brothers (1960). Apparently, Martin Scorsese is a massive fan of the last film.

will support their desire to continue breastfeeding their babies when they return from maternity leave by:

- Providing a private, nearby space, such as an unused office, where moms can feed their babies or pump breast milk to feed the baby after work. It doesn't need to be a permanent space but must be available when the employee needs it.
- Offering the employee a work schedule that is flexible enough to accommodate lactation breaks. This might involve having coworkers cover for the employee while she's on break. Employers aren't required to pay for breaks that exceed the time required by state or federal law.

- Providing a sanitary, cool place where a mother can store expressed milk for the limited time that she's breastfeeding. It can be a staff refrigerator or a small refrigerator that the employee can use while breastfeeding.
- Developing a lactation policy and making sure all managers, supervisors and employees understand and follow it.

The organization offers sample policies, printable handouts, and links to the laws that pertain to breastfeeding at work, including the federal Break Time for Nursing Mothers law, which applies to hourly employees covered by the Fair Labor Standards Act. More resources or solutions are available at www.womenshealth.gov/breastfeeding/employersolutions/index.html.

For help establishing a successful lactation program, employers can contact the organization at (505) 395-6455 or contact@breastfeedingnm.org.

development across the Navajo Nation. The expenditure plan provided $9.2 million for the shopping center.

Delegate Damon, who chairs the Budget and Finance Committee, described how he and the committee worked to develop the five-year plan, which also included various projects in the communities of Dennehotso, Shonto, Shiprock, Crownpoint, Wheatfields, and others, which will create over 100 jobs, he added.

Council Delegate Alton Joe Shepherd (Jeddito, Cornfields, Ganado, Kin Dah Lichí, Steamboat), who represents the Ganado community, joined Ganado Chapter president Vince James in praising and thanking the family of Ethel Myers who consented to land withdrawals within the family's grazing area to allow for the construction of the shopping center.

Delegate Shepherd also stated that the new project is a sign of progress for the community and acknowledged that more needs to be done to create more economic development for the Navajo Nation, including amending current laws and policies at the federal level that discourage companies from starting businesses on the Nation.

"As leaders, we will continue to work with congressional members because there are federal laws that need to be changed because outside companies don't want to do business on Navajo due to dual taxation," said Delegate Shepherd, who also thanked many past leaders who he said had a "vision" for the community and for the Nation.

Speaker LoRenzo Bates (Nenahnezad, Newcomb, San Juan, Tiis Tsoh Sikaad, Tse'Daa'Ka an, Upper Fruitland) said the new shopping center is an example of how the 23rd Navajo Nation Council is fulfilling the priorities that were established when the current Council took office in 2015. He noted that in addition to the $150 million five-year plan the Council has also approved $180 million for major water projects across the Navajo Nation and $100 million for chapter projects.

Other guest speakers at the event included President Russell Begaye, Vice President Jonathan

Nez, Ganado Chapter president Vince James, and Lowe's Market CEO Roger Lowe, Jr. The new Lok'aah Ni Teel Shopping Center is currently open to the public.

new potential operator have begun.

Navajo and Hopi leaders agree that there is much at stake in the negotiations including hundreds of high skilled jobs and a significant source of revenues that provide direct services to Navajo and Hopi people.

Continuing NGS operations will ensure continued payment of royalties to both the Navajo Nation and the Hopi Tribe, and secure many jobs for workers at Navajo Generating Station and the Kayenta Mine.

In regards to the ongoing discussions, Speaker LoRenzo Bates said he looks forward to the successful negotiation of new ownership and continued operations of the Navajo Generating Station and the Kayenta Mine.
