Staff Reports

The Navajo feed and Grain Store received extensive fire damage early Sunday morning.

The first notice of the fire occurred about 4:55 am.

, according to Gallup fire officials. When the first fire trucks arrived on the scene, firefighters reported seeing heavy black smoke and large flames coming from the west side of the Feed store.

Most of the damage was done on the second floor and much of the efforts of the firefighters was to keep the fire from spreading further into the business, according to the fire report.
