

As we prepare to celebrate Thanksgiving, I am so grateful for my faith, family and friends. God has blessed my life with so many caring people, and I am honored to live in a free country, serving the people of New Mexico and our nation. On Thanksgiving Day, we should all take a moment to contemplate the wonderful things in our lives to be thankful for. I am especially thankful for our active-duty service members, our veterans, the brave men and women of law enforcement, and all the first responders who keep us safe and make this the greatest country in the world.

God bless you on this Thanksgiving Day.
