

Thanksgiving has always been my favorite holiday. I love to make things like red chile elk enchiladas because it connects some of our most cherished outdoor experiences to a shared family meal. Quality time doesn't get much better than that.