

I am grateful for the men and women who serve our country, as well as those who serve in our local communities as first responders, police officers, firefighters, nurses, and medical professionals. I am thankful for their presence in our communities and their selfless commitment and sacrifice to protect our community. Behind all the first responders are families who love them and I want to take this opportunity to acknowledge them and express my gratitude to them for supporting and uplifting them in their time of need. On behalf of my family, I want to say thank you to all our military personnel and first responders for their service and sacrifice.
