DWI. (First offense)

Gallup Patrolman Thomas House said he was dispatched to the parking lot of Walmart in connection to a two-car accident.

When he got there, he found Henry, 21, of Gallup, being detained by other police officer. It turned out that the accident had occurred east of the store and Henry had left the scene. The other officer had followed her to the parking lot.

Henry told House she had come to the store to pick up her boyfriend. She admitted to having had a couple of shots of liquor two or three hours earlier.

She agreed to take a field sobriety test, which she failed and was then arrested for DWI. She later agreed to take a breath alcohol test, during which she blew samples of .21 and .20. Besides the DWI charge, she was also charged with failure to report the accident.
