Gallup Patrolman Brandon Salazar was dispatched to a one-vehicle accident on Coal Avenue where he found Benally, 33, of St. Michaels, by her car.

She told Salazar that she crashed her car when her front tire blew out. Salazar said he could see possible signs of intoxication, so he asked her if she had been drinking. She said she had two beers at dinner at 7 pm.

Salazar said he asked her what time she thought it was. She said 9 pm, when it was actually almost 1 am.

She agreed to take the standard field sobriety tests but before that, Salazar had MedStar technicians do a check up because she had been in an accident. They gave her a medical clearance so the tests were done. She failed and was charged with DWI.
