All citizens need to be watching their property, especially their mailboxes as thieves are stealing checks from incoming and outgoing mail in order to rewrite them and cash them for larger amounts. Gallup Police Capt. Rick White said that this has been going on for several weeks now and they need the public's help to catch the culprits.

"Anybody who sees anyone tampering with mail needs to call the police," he said. "They are going into mailboxes and altering checks, going into banks and attempting to cash them."

White said it would be a good idea for citizens to mail checks by going directly to the post office and not leave them in the mailbox.

"Not only this crime, but car burglaries, residential burglaries, [the citizens] have got to be our eyes and ears out there for us," White said.

Any and all suspicious activity can be reported to Metro Dispatch at (505) 722-2231 or (505)722-2002. Emergency calls for service should always be directed to 911.

Anyone with information on any unsolved crimes can report their knowledge to the Gallup Police Department Detectives at (505) 863-9365 or Crimestoppers at (505) 722-6161 for anonymous tips and a possible reward.
