

City entertains $35K library ‘concept’ report

Written by By Bernie Dotson Sun Correspondent
Friday, 05 May 2017 11:09

---

City entertains $35K library ‘concept’ report

Written by By Bernie Dotson Sun Correspondent
Friday, 05 May 2017 11:09

---

City of Albuquerque is considering a $35,000 report to study the feasibility of building a new library in the city's downtown area. The report, which was commissioned by the city's Public Works Department, is expected to be completed by the end of the year. The city's Public Works Department is the lead agency for the project, and it is working closely with the city's Planning and Economic Development Department to develop the report. The report will provide the city with information on the location, size, and cost of the library, as well as the potential impact on the surrounding community. The city's Public Works Department is also responsible for the design and construction of the library, and it is currently in the process of soliciting bids for the project. The city's Planning and Economic Development Department is also responsible for the development of the report, and it is currently in the process of reviewing the report and providing feedback to the city's Public Works Department. The city's Public Works Department is also responsible for the construction of the library, and it is currently in the process of soliciting bids for the project. The city's Planning and Economic Development Department is also responsible for the development of the report, and it is currently in the process of reviewing the report and providing feedback to the city's Public Works Department.