

Welcome back to another look at highlights arriving on Blu-ray, 4K Ultra HD and DVD. It's another busy edition with plenty of selections in a wide variety of genres. So, if you can't make it out to the movies this week, be sure to give one of these titles a try!

BIG NEW RELEASES!

EILEEN: Set in the 19960s, this story follows a lonely young woman who works at a juvenile detention center. When the facility hires a stylish psychologist, the lead is surprised when the new arrival befriends her. The youngster is charmed and their relationship grows closer as time passes. But not long after, the mysterious woman reveals a dark and potentially sinister secret that threatens more than their relationship.

Notices were generally strong for this thriller. A small contingent thought the cast were good but that the story didn't quite work and didn't leave a lasting impact. Still, the majority were intrigued throughout and complimented the film as an unsettling character drama mixed with elements of a Hitchcock film.

It stars Thomasin McKenzie, Shea Whigham, Sam Nivola, Siobhan Fallon, Tonye Patano and Anne Hathaway.

INFILTRATION: A retired Russian soldier finds life at home more difficult than expected. When he learns that his ex-commander has been captured by ISIS, he decides to travel behind enemy lines in order to find him. Along the way, the lead encounters U.S. military patrols who decide to help him accomplish his goal. However, he and the captive encounter even more difficulty attempting to escape the country whilst being pursued by the organization.

Apparently, this is a sequel to a 2002 Russian film called War and this follow-up was released in its homeland under the title Svo ya Voyna. Shtorm v Pustyne

. The title has yet to be screened in this part of the world and no online reviews are available for the title at this time. So, interested parties who haven't seen the original will have to go in cold.

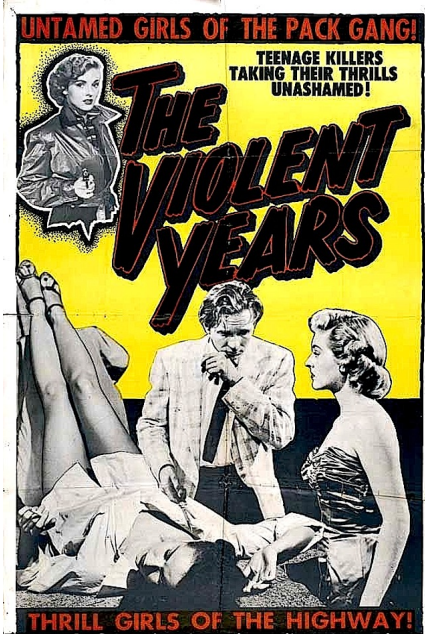

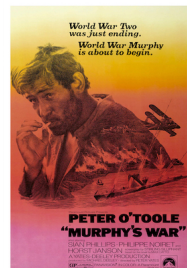

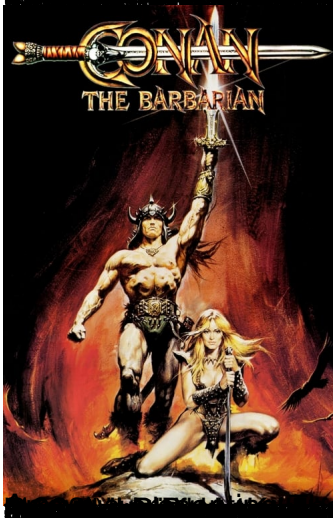

Aleksey Chadov and Vitali Kishchenko headline the movie.
